

Material For Inoculating Crimson Clover In September.

The following letter from the Alabama Experiment Station, has been received by Mr. T. P. Windham. We publish it for those who may be interested in the raising of clover.

Dear Sir:— Every September at the time for sowing crimson clover, there are many inquiries as to where suitable soil can be obtained for this purpose. The object of this letter is to indicate where you can find wild clover, from around roots of which you can obtain soil suitable for inoculating crimson clover.

I can scarcely say too much for the merits of crimson clover as a soil inoculating plant, making its growth between September and April and in time to be followed by late cotton, sweet potatoes, or other late summer crops.

However, success with crimson clover is impossible on most soils in Alabama without inoculation. Please Bulletin No. 30 and Bulletin No. 147 of the Alabama Experiment Station, which will be sent free to any address upon application, explaining fully methods of inoculating, sowing, and cultivating crimson clover, and the seeds to which it is adapted.

Crimson clover may be inoculated by sowing, with the seed, soil from a spot where any of the following or true clovers grew the previous spring: White Clover, Annual White or Carolina Clover, samples of the dead seed heads and leaves of which are enclosed; Red Clover, the kind generally cultivated in Tennessee and northward.

Soil from a patch of Japan Clover (Lupinus albus), often called wild clover, will not serve to inoculate crimson or other true clovers.

Enclosed I send you labeled specimens of the seed heads and leaves of,

- (1) Annual white or Carolina clover, and of,
- (2) Yellow or Rabbit Foot clover.

I send these in hope that you or some member of your family or one of your neighbors, will immediately locate and mark by stakes the patches of these clovers which I am confident you will find growing in wild in the following locations in your county: (1), in old lanes or front yards; (2), in old pastures, especially on the steeper spots; (3), along road sides, especially near the edges of woods.

It is necessary to search immediately for these plots of Annual White and Yellow or Rabbit Foot Clover, for these clovers will soon disappear and not be visible again until too late to use their soil next fall.

Yours very truly,
J. F. Duggar,
Director Alabama Experiment Station.

HARVESTER TRUST UNDER FIRE SOON

Wickersham Reported Stalking More Big Game.

SHERMAN LAW IS VIOLATED

For More Than a Year the Department of Justice Has Been Investigating the Harvester Trust—After Disposal.

Attorney General Wickersham may soon bring criminal and civil action against the International Harvester company, "The Harvester trust," for "flagrant" violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, according to officers of the government close to the attorney general.

For more than a year the department of justice has been investigating the harvester trust. This investigation has led the department to the firm belief that the Harvester trust and the trust are closely allied, that the principal holders in the latter corporation are the principal holders in the former.

Mr. Wickersham in a few weeks will begin writing the bill of particulars which he will file in the civil suit against the Harvester trust. He will write into that bill the word "unreasonable."

The civil suit will be for the dissolution of the trust and will be conducted along lines similar to the Standard Oil trust.

The criminal action will be against the officers of the trust for combining to "monopolize" the business of the manufacture and sale of farming and harvesting machinery. The department probably will wait until its criminal prosecutions against the trust are well under way before the criminal action in the Harvester trust case begins. It is pointed out that the reason for this is that in many respects the two suits will be similar and for that reason much effort will be saved.

6TH ENCAMPMENT.

Georgia Odd Fellows Met at Rome— Election of Officers.

The sixty-fourth annual session of the Grand Encampment of Georgia Odd Fellows met at Rome, Ga. The Grand Lodge and Rebekah Assembly also held meetings, and at least 2,000 visitors were present.

The grand encampment elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: C. H. Bell, Gainesville, grand patriarch; George O. Hook, Alpharetta, grand high priest.

R. L. Bramblett, Athens, grand senior warden; Alex. Dittler, Atlanta, grand scribe; J. G. Bloodworth, Atlanta, grand treasurer; E. S. Stout, Atlanta, grand junior warden; J. L. Bass, Rome, and George O. Berry, Columbus, grand representatives.

J. B. Everidge, Columbus, grand marshal; Judson Purdy, Elberton, grand sentinel. The place of next meeting was not chosen, but will be the same as that of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows.

ALASKA COAL FIELDS.

Trouble May Occur Because of the Government's Proclamation. Unwilling to sit idly by waiting the action of the government in opening the Alaska coal lands, nearly 100 citizens of Cordova left for the Bertha river coal fields, near Katalla, 25 miles east of Cordova, Alaska, where they intend to begin mining coal for the markets of that city and other Alaska towns. A subscription list was circulated, and liberal contributions were made for the purpose of financing the expedition.

It is the intention of the coal seekers to locate mine and acquire coal claims which they will undertake to work at once without waiting action by the government. If the government objects the miners declare that it will be necessary to send a force of men to stop the operations. The expedition left Cordova in four launches and a barge.

MYSTERIOUS NOTE.

Found Bearing Signature of Missing Dorothy Arnold.

A Pensacola, Fla., dispatch says: A note signed "Dorothy Arnold" and a lock of black hair was found in a bottle which was fished out of Pensacola bay by boat men. The note, which was written on cheap paper with a lead pencil, was dated Escambia Bay, January 28, 1911. It reads: "Some one may find mine and Bob's dead bodies some day. I know they will find our shoes in the boat. To the finder—if it is fifty years from today—send this piece of hair to father and nobody is to know." (Signed) "DOROTHY ARNOLD."

Whether the note was written by the missing New York girl or is the work of a practical joker, of course cannot be known. With the absence of any writing of Miss Arnold it can not be compared with her's. Escambia Bay is about 30 miles east of Pensacola.

INTEREST IS SHOWN IN CO-OPERATIVE PLAN.

People From Different Parts of County Manifest Interest in Co-Operative Road Plan.

It is going to be a go, so far as the people are concerned. They believe they can help their roads by the co-operative plan. No. The Clipper has not heard from them all, nor any great number, but we have heard from enough people to know that the people of Coffee County will get out and use the machinery that may be provided, if it is provided, for road working.

And it will be provided. The commissioners will attend to that. The Clipper has not asked them, not at all, but it feels sure they will. It just the same as knows they will do so, for while they are only men, they're pretty good fellows, and want to do what is right, and have pretty good luck doing so.

No, we never started the idea, nor did the commissioners. It was first advocated in Coffee in commissioners court by the Judges and Commissioners, several years ago, but it never got beyond the talking stage. The plan is not, at the start, a Coffee County plan; it is a "Yankee trick," one of the ways they learned of doing things. An older farmer up in one of the counties of Iowa, where the people were afraid to sell bonds, on account of their grand children, and the like, got tired of his road being so bad, so he pitched in to get it worked, did some on it himself just to show he was in earnest and from that little beginning came a plan which has been a success wherever it has been tried.

We people in this county are used to some sort of co-operation. Our great-grandfathers would join together and co-operate in fighting the Indians, without any government officers in charge. Frequently they got to a new section of country ahead of the officials. Then we know how the old time houses were built at "house-raising," how new grounds were cleared of logs by log rollings, how from the very earliest days up to now many of the best educational movements have come in.

No, this will not interfere with any other plan of road building now or later. This is just one way of helping some. It is true that if this plan were to work out wonderfully well, that no other plan would ever be needed, but this is not to be expected, nor will it happen.

We want you, if you have not already done so, to fill out and mail us the following blank. Notice, there are a few blank lines left—these are left for you to write on them whether you think your neighbors will take to the idea.
